FUND COMMENTARY

During the month of November 2024, the Fund NAV increased by 0.40% as against an increase of 1.02% for Bloomberg EM USD Corp and Quasi High Yield Index and an increase of 1.12% for Bloomberg US High Yield Index. The increase in NAV was primarily led by American, Mexican, and Japanese credits which was partly offset by Dutch credits. Sectorially, Basic Materials, Consumer Cyclical, and Energy were the key positive contributors which was partly offset by Consumer Non-cyclical and Utilities sectors. The increase in NAV was accentuated by mark-to-market gain from interest rate swaps (IRS) as market priced in lower rate cuts.
